Implementation Specialist

Kickstart Your Career Building Experiences That Matter

Location: Chennai, WFO
Team: Solutions & Implementation

What is SurveySparrow?

SurveySparrow is an omnichannel experience management platform that helps businesses refine experiences end to end. It helps them create engagements, inspire performance, and achieve business outcomes — all through the power of conversational surveys.

Why SurveySparrow?

We have a unique work culture that reflects the personality of our brand, and we're committed to the growth of our people as the company continues to scale. Here, you're not just part of the workforce — we value you and invest in your growth. For a fresher, that means real mentorship, real projects, and the room to grow fast.

Be the Reason Customers Fall in Love with Their New Platform

At SurveySparrow, we help thousands of businesses around the world listen to their customers and employees through delightful, conversational surveys and experience management tools. But great software only becomes a great impact when it's set up right and that's where you come in.

As an Implementation Specialist, you're the person who takes a brand-new customer from “we just signed up” to “we can't imagine working without this.” You'll own the entire launch journey: moving their data over, wiring up their integrations, configuring the platform to fit their world, and steering the whole project to a successful go-live. It's technical, it's strategic, and it's deeply human all at once.

This isn't a “watch and learn” role. From early on, you'll be running real projects for real customers, with the mentorship and backing of an experienced team behind you.

What You'll Own

- Lead customer onboarding projects end to end : you'll be the primary point of contact who plans the rollout, sets timelines, and makes sure every milestone lands.
- Migrate data from customers' existing tools and legacy systems into SurveySparrow cleanly and accurately, so nothing gets lost in translation.
- Build integrations connecting SurveySparrow with the tools customers already use: CRMs, communication tools, ticketing systems, and more so everything works as one seamless flow.
- Configure and tailor the platform to each customer's specific goals, from survey logic and workflows to dashboards and automations.
- Run the project like a pro coordinating across the customer's team and internal teams (Sales, Support, Product), tracking progress, unblocking issues, and keeping everyone aligned to a smooth launch.
- Train and empower customers so they walk away confident and self-sufficient.

- Be the voice of the customer internally, sharing feedback that shapes how our product evolves.

Why This Role Is a Launchpad for Your Career

- You'll build rare, valuable skills fast : project management, technical problem-solving, data handling, integrations, and client communication. This is the toolkit that opens doors across tech.
- You'll talk to real decision-makers at companies of every size, learning how businesses actually run.

What We're Looking For

We care far more about how you think and how you show up than about years on a résumé. You might be a great fit if you:

- Communicate clearly and warmly, and enjoy helping people.
- Are naturally organized and love the satisfaction of a project that lands on time.
- Have a comfort with (or genuine excitement about learning) technical concepts — APIs, integrations, and data don't scare you off.
- Stay calm and resourceful when things get messy, and enjoy figuring things out.
- Take ownership:when you say you'll handle something, it gets handled.

What You'll Love About Working Here

- A high-ownership role where your work visibly shapes customer success from day one.
- A collaborative, supportive culture that celebrates learning.
- Exposure to global customers and modern SaaS tools.
- Competitive salary, learning budget, health benefits, flexible work
