- ▶ Be sure that your pop-up blocker is disabled in your web browser.
- ▶ If you need assistance at any time, you may contact the My EY Help desk team or use the Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) chat bot.

Accessing the My EY User Site

Users will access the My EY site to perform several actions:

- ▶ Access tools that have been assigned as part of an engagement or service delivery project
- ▶ Edit, manage tools assigned to them, and search for more tools
- ▶ View top insights, articles of interest and thought leadership
- ▶ Access shared sites, if applicable
- ▶ Edit their user profile

To access the User Site, go to <https://login.ey.com>.

Accepting invitation

Before accessing My EY, you will first need to accept the invitation that is emailed to you from your EY engagement team member.

You will receive a system-generated email with instructions to confirm your account and will have a series of steps depending on how your organization is federated with the EY organization.

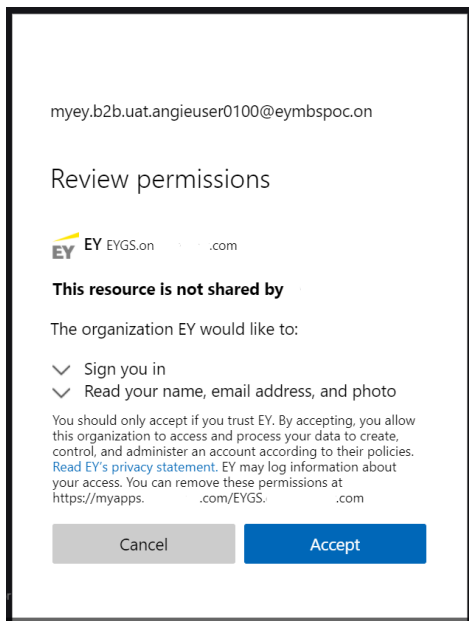

The majority of users will see an invitation like the one shown below for a Single sign-on (SSO) experience:

Click on the button enabled in the email labeled "Confirm account." You will be prompted for your organizational password; this is the same password that you use to log in to your own company's resources.

This will direct you to review permissions and either accept or cancel. Choosing "Accept" will complete the user registration process. Clicking "Cancel" will not allow you to access My EY or EY tools that have been assigned to you. Users must accept the permissions statement to move forward.

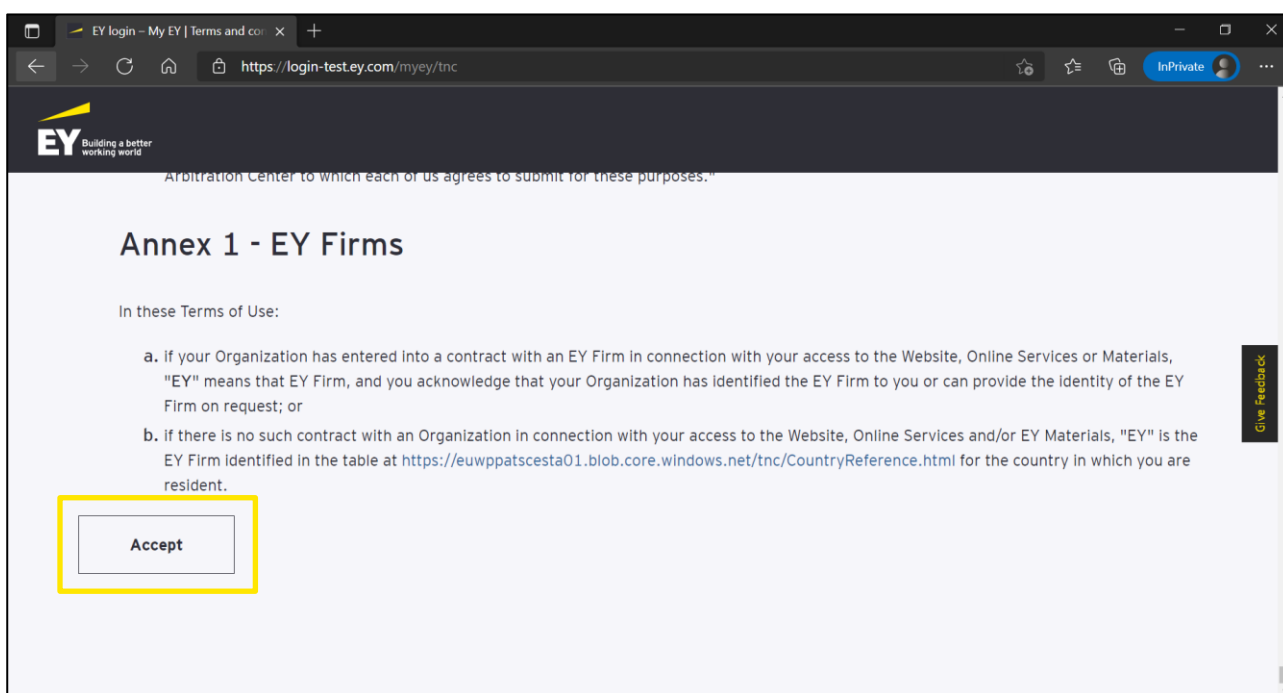

If you are prompted to “stay signed in” as shown below, you may choose “yes” or “no” to move forward. This is optional, but clicking “yes” may reduce the number of times you are prompted to sign in.

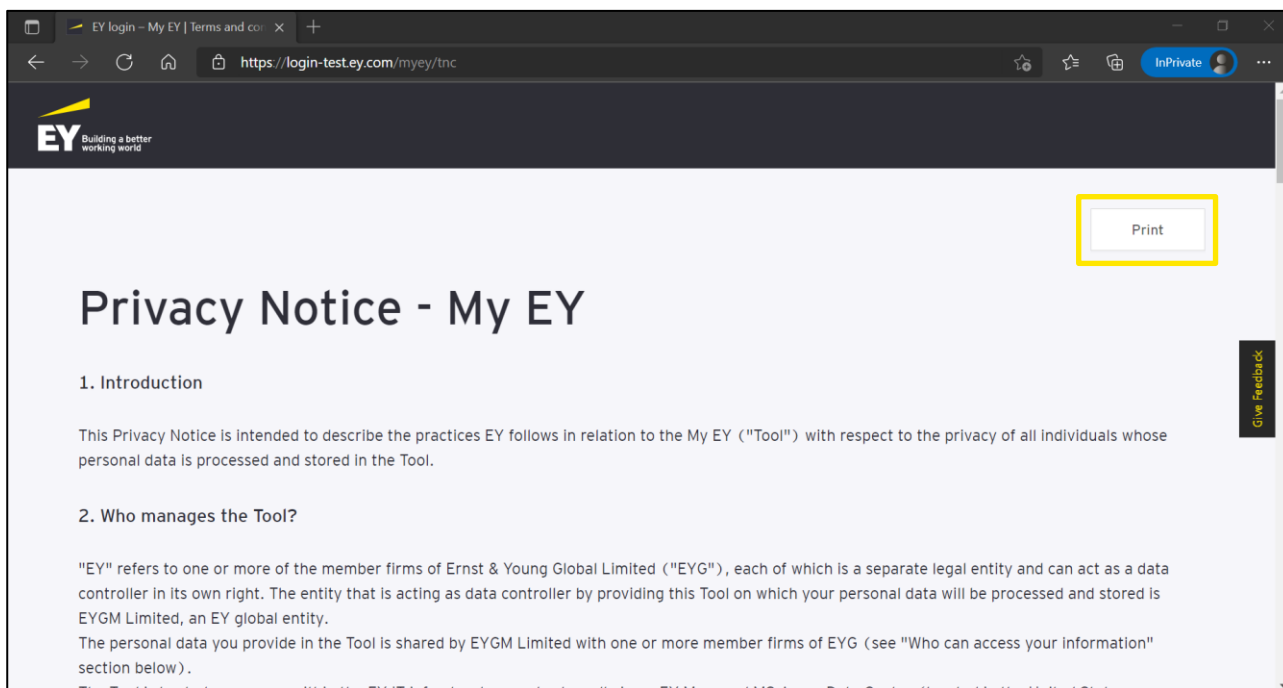

Next, please review the My EY Terms of use. Depending on your location, you will either be shown a similar screen (see screen shot below) or a Global legal agreement. You may print the Terms of use from the button at the top right of the screen. You can always review the Terms of use again from within My EY by accessing the Legal & Privacy link.

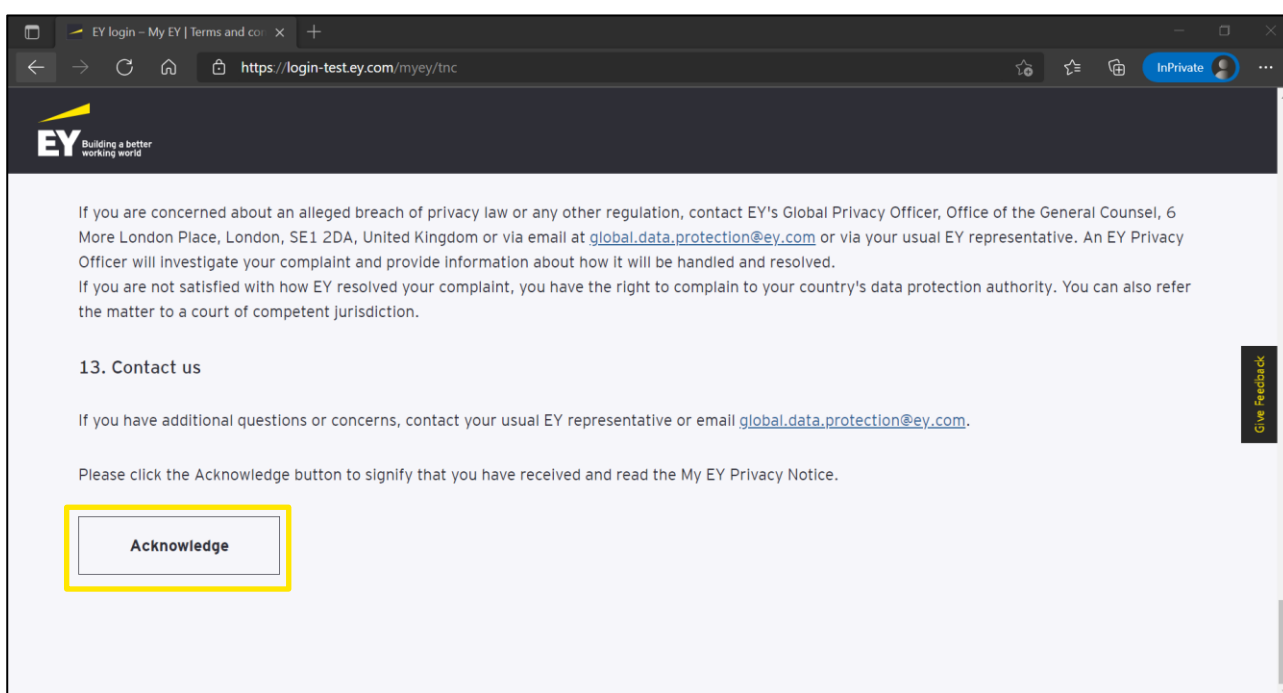

Scroll to review and click “Accept” to move forward.

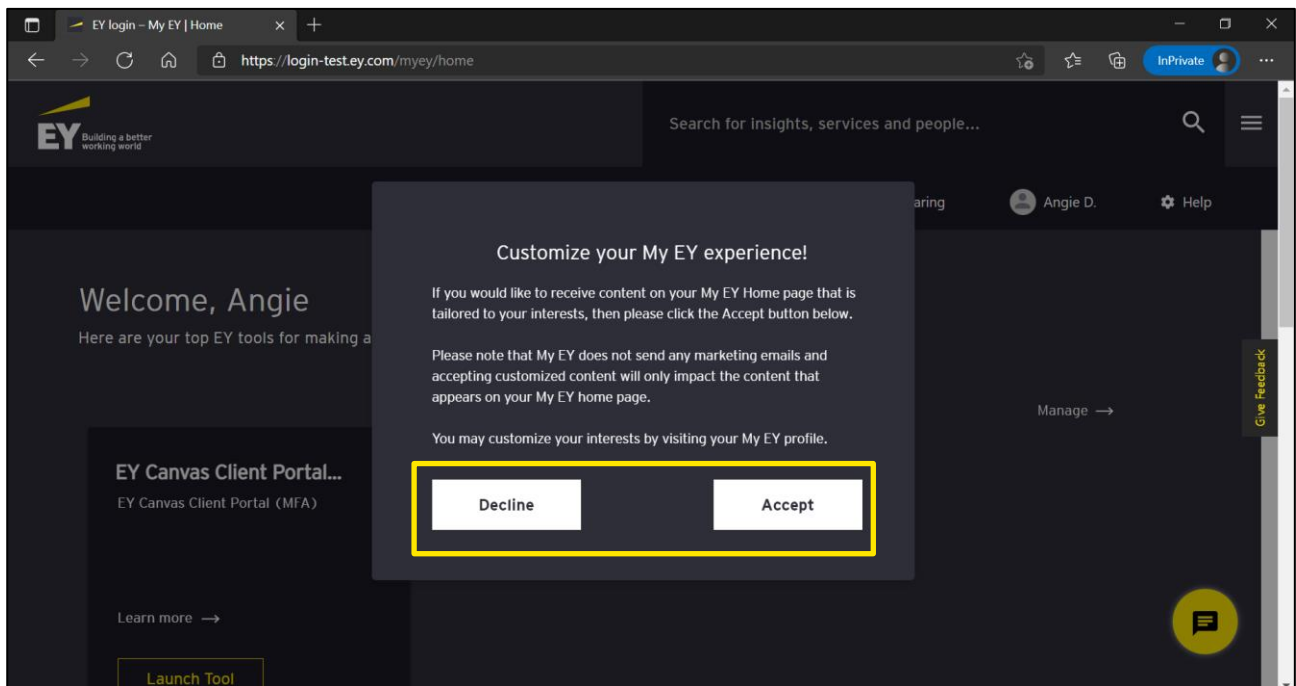

Next, review the Privacy Notice. You may print the Privacy notice from the button at the top right of the screen. You can always review them again from within My EY by accessing the Legal & Privacy link.

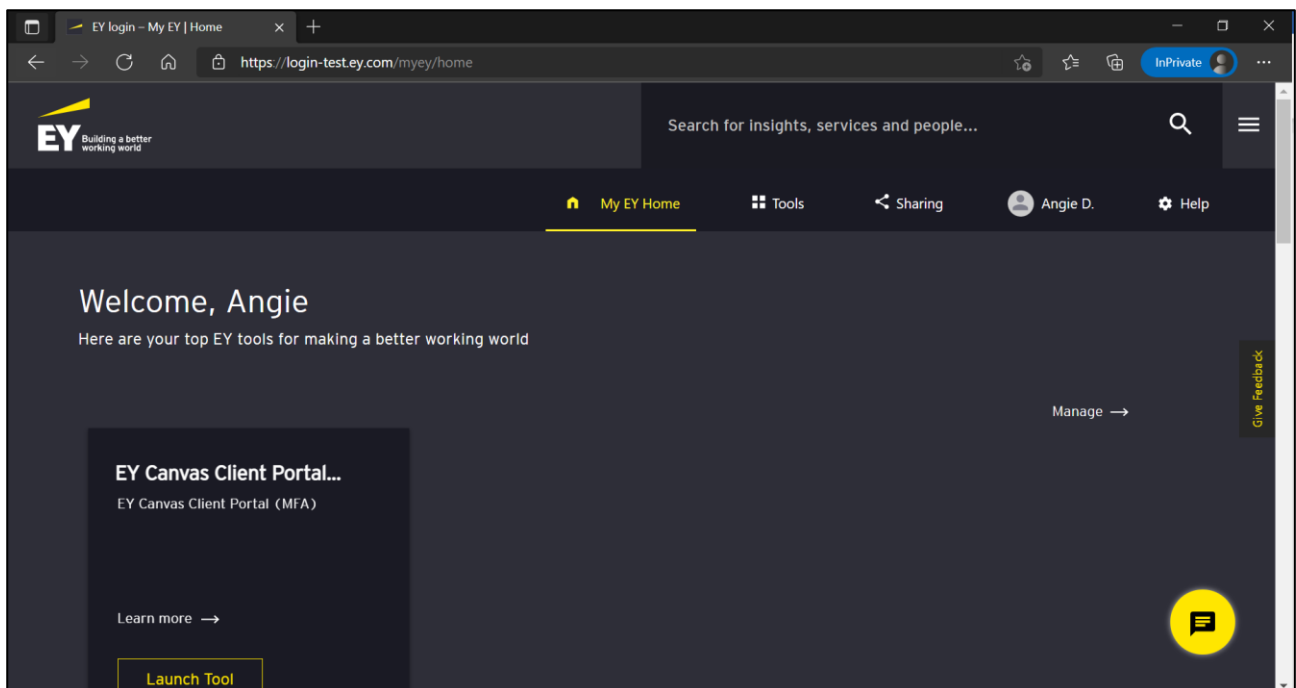

Scroll to review and click “Acknowledge” to move forward.

You will be shown a message about customizing your My EY experience. If you would like to be shown articles of interest, topics about your industry, and relevant thought leadership, click the “Accept” button to move forward. If you choose not to see this type of information on the My EY landing page, you may click the “Decline” button. You may update this option at any time from the user profile tab in My EY.

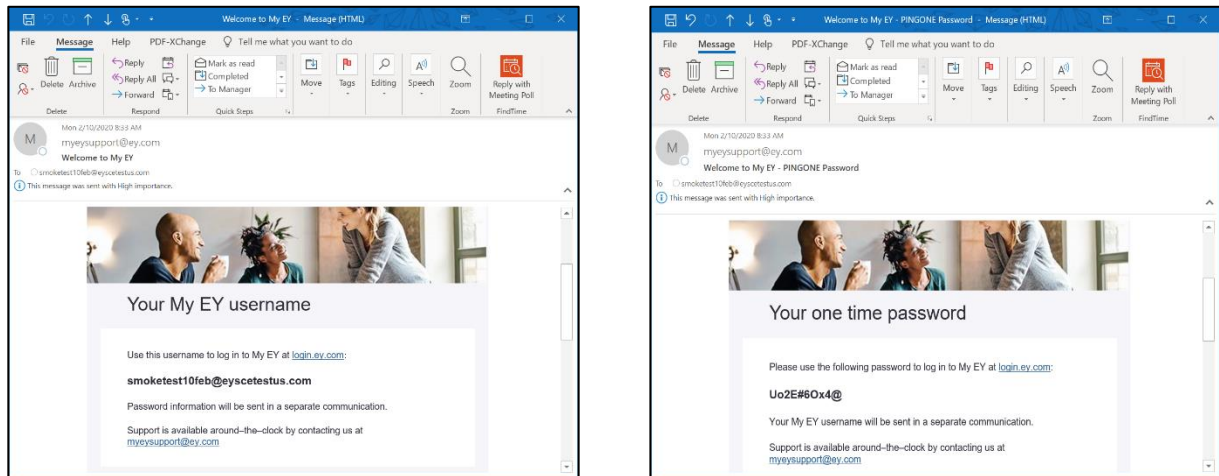

You are now shown the My EY landing page.

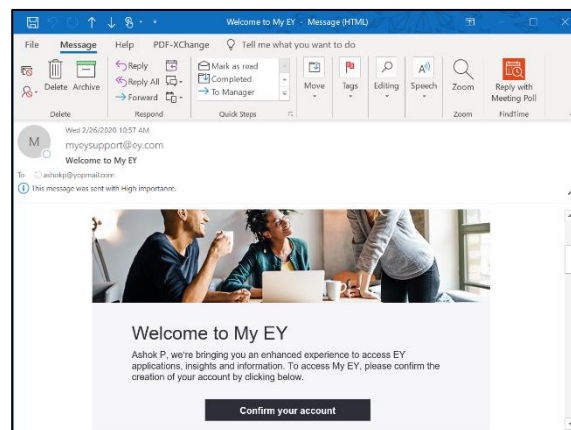

Accepting invitation – additional authentication methods

If the client's organization is a PingOne hosted federation, the user will receive two emails: one with a link to redeem their invitation, and one with a PingOne password. The user should click on the URL in the first email to be directed to review permissions and either accept or cancel. Choosing "Accept" will complete the user registration process. Clicking "Cancel" will not allow the user to access My EY; user must accept the permissions statement to move forward.

A user may also receive a one-time password if the invitation is being sent to an organization that is not federated or hosted by EY. This type of invitation also applies to most social email addresses (personal email addresses). The invitation will look similar to the screenshot below:

You will be sent a one-time use only passcode to your email address to use while logging in.

Some users may be set up with an Auth0 identity to access EY tools. If you were previously accessing tools via EY Client Portal, you will use your same username and password that you used there to log in to My EY. Otherwise, use the password that you have chosen yourself. Please ask your EY engagement team member for the My EY Auth0 User Journey Guide for additional steps to log in via this method.

You will receive an email that looks similar to this:

You can redeem the invitation either through clicking on the URL in the email, or by going directly to the login screen for My EY.

Note: System-generated emails will be sent from myeysupport@ey.com. If you are expecting an invitation from an EY engagement team member, please be sure to check your junk or spam folder. You may also ask your IT department on how to prevent future communication from this email address from moving to a junk or spam folder.

Accessing My EY

Users may access My EY from the URL: <https://login.ey.com>

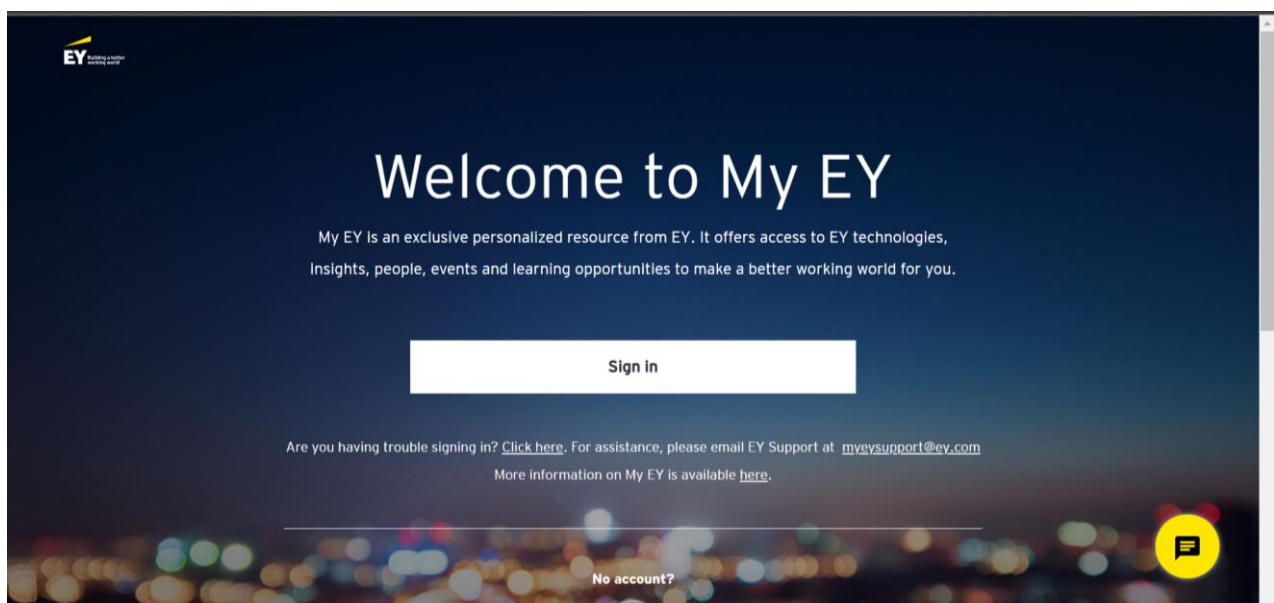

You must first be invited to access My EY. Details are provided in the previous section about redeeming your invitation through email.

The following browsers are supported for accessing My EY: Internet Explorer (minimum IE V.11), Chrome, MS Edge and Safari. You may also gain access through mobile browsers. (Please note that some individual tools may not render in mobile browsers.)

You will be presented with a statement about cookies. Choose any of the 3 options shown in the screenshot above to move forward. You will always be able to view and customize your cookie consent from within the tool under the "Legal and Privacy" link.

Click "Sign in" to proceed:

If prompted, enter your login credentials starting with your email address. The login experience varies depending on your organization's federation with EY, and whether or not you have already accepted your invitation to join My EY.

You may utilize the chat feature using the yellow icon on the bottom right of the screen.

Note: if you are having trouble signing in, click on the link in the above screen shot labled "Click here". This will clear your browsing history and cache to assist you with a clean log in experience.

Your tools

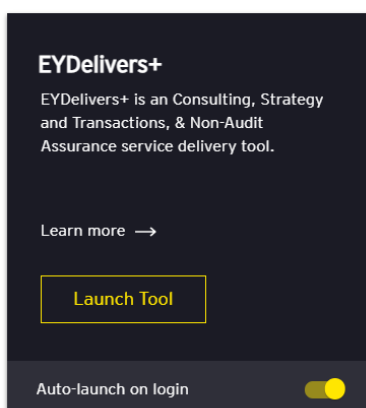

Applications and tools that the user has access to will appear as individual tiles in the first section. Users will be granted access to applications and tools separately from the My EY registration process by their EY engagement team. To access any of the applications or tools, click on the “Launch Tool” button on the tile.

By clicking “Launch Tool” the application will open in a new browser tab or window.

Note: If you do not see an application or tool that you feel you should have access to, please reach out to your EY engagement team member to grant access to the tool in My EY.

If you have been assigned more than 3-4 tools, click on the “manage” link to the far right of the tool tiles to view all your tools.

Each tile has the name of the tool, a description of the tool, a “launch” button, a “Learn more” link, and a toggle switch to automatically launch the tool at next login. By enabling the auto-launch switch, it turns yellow to indicate that this tool will be the default tool to open automatically in a new tab or window upon next login.

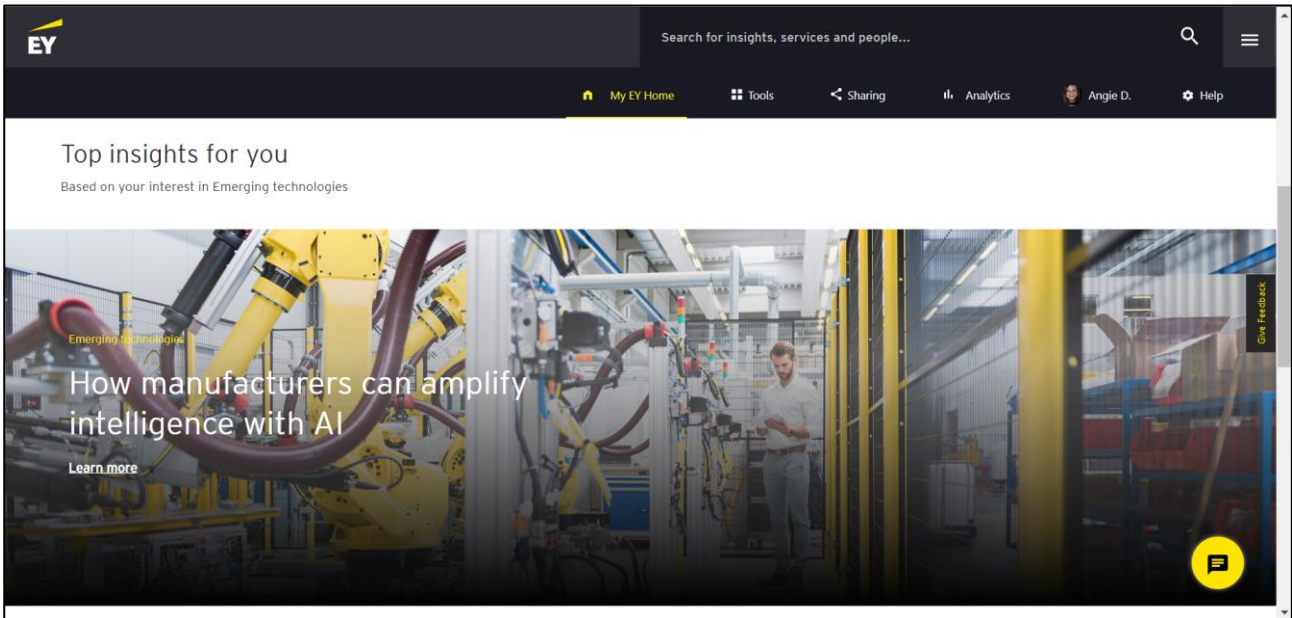

You may change the default tool at any time by simply disabling the switch on the current tool and enabling it on another tool.

Note: you may need to disable pop-up blockers in your web browsers to enable a tool to be automatically launched in a new tab/window. If you are unsure how to do this, please contact your IT department for assistance. This is typically found in the “settings” of your web browser.

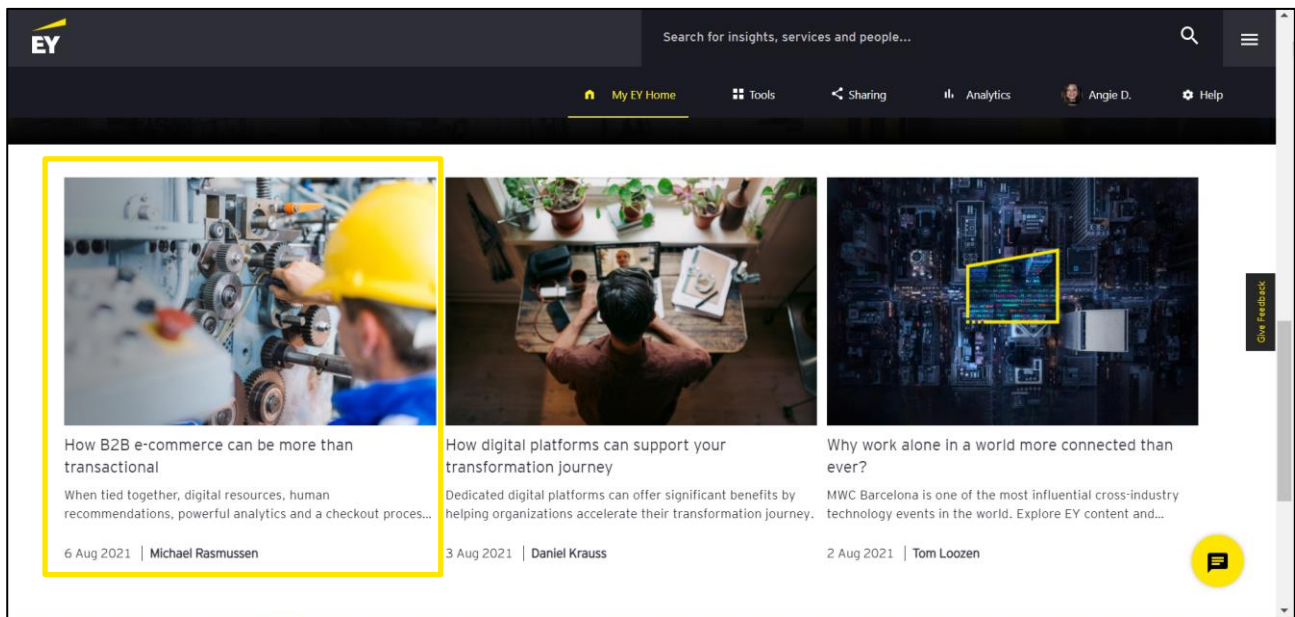

Top insights for you

On the main landing page, beneath the tool tiles, Top insights for you will show a variety of articles or stories that may be of interest to you. These are only shown if you have selected the option to customize your landing page the first time you logged in, or by selecting the option to view them under your user profile.

The insights shown are various articles, thought leadership, and topics based on your industry and service line.

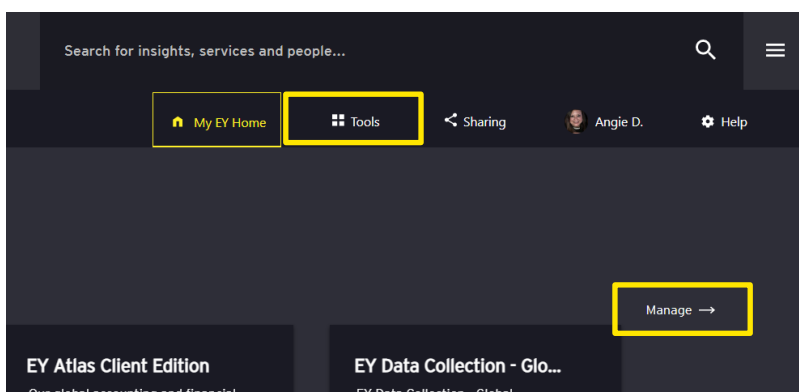

Click on any image or text below it to read the article or story.

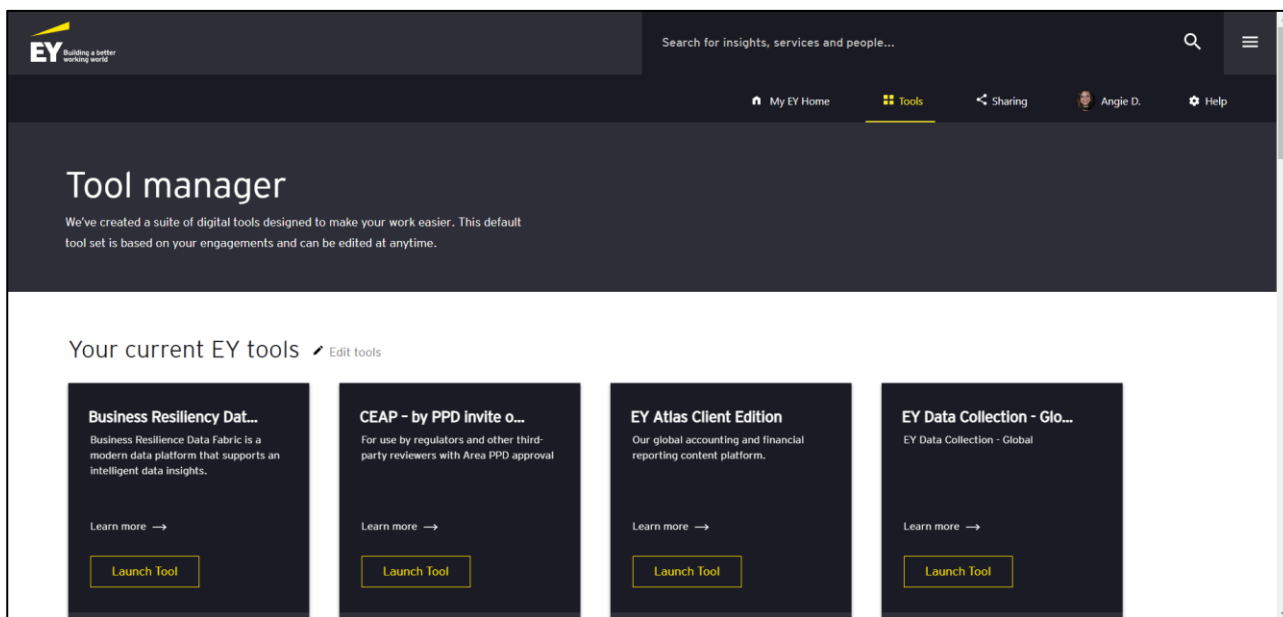

Once you've read the article, click the back button on your browser window to return to My EY.

Multi-factor authentication (MFA)

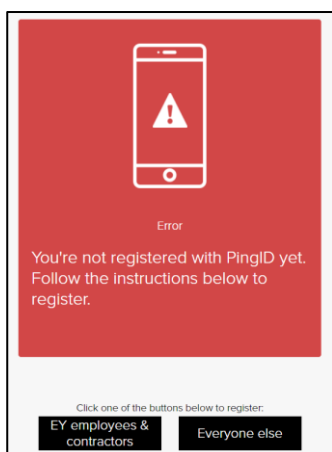

Upon first entering the site you will be prompted to authenticate using PingID for MFA. The easiest method for using PingID is with your mobile device and the PingID app, which can be downloaded and installed for iOS (iOS Appstore) or Android (Play Store). You will be prompted to set up your device if you have not already done so.

You will be given a choice of MFA methods. All require, at a minimum, a smartphone with service connectivity or mobile device with service connectivity or Wi-Fi, except for email.

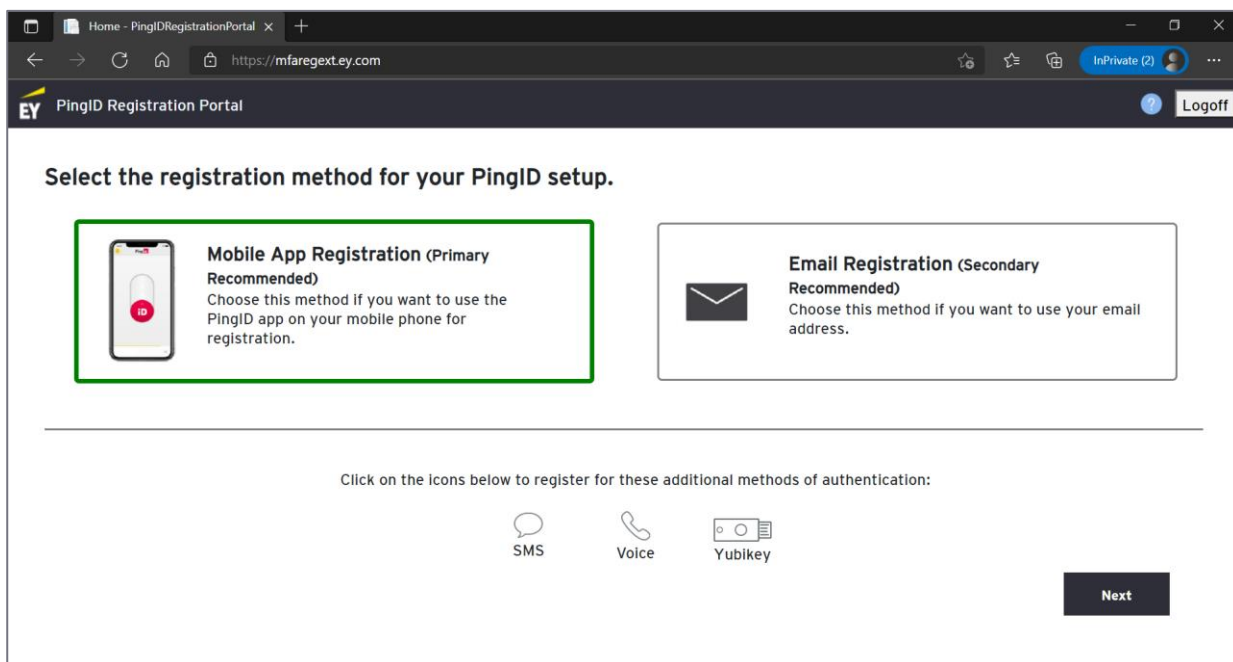

- ▶ PingID app for authentication
- ▶ Voice callback authentication
- ▶ Text message authentication
- ▶ Email authentication

To authenticate using the app, download the PingID app from your device’s app store.

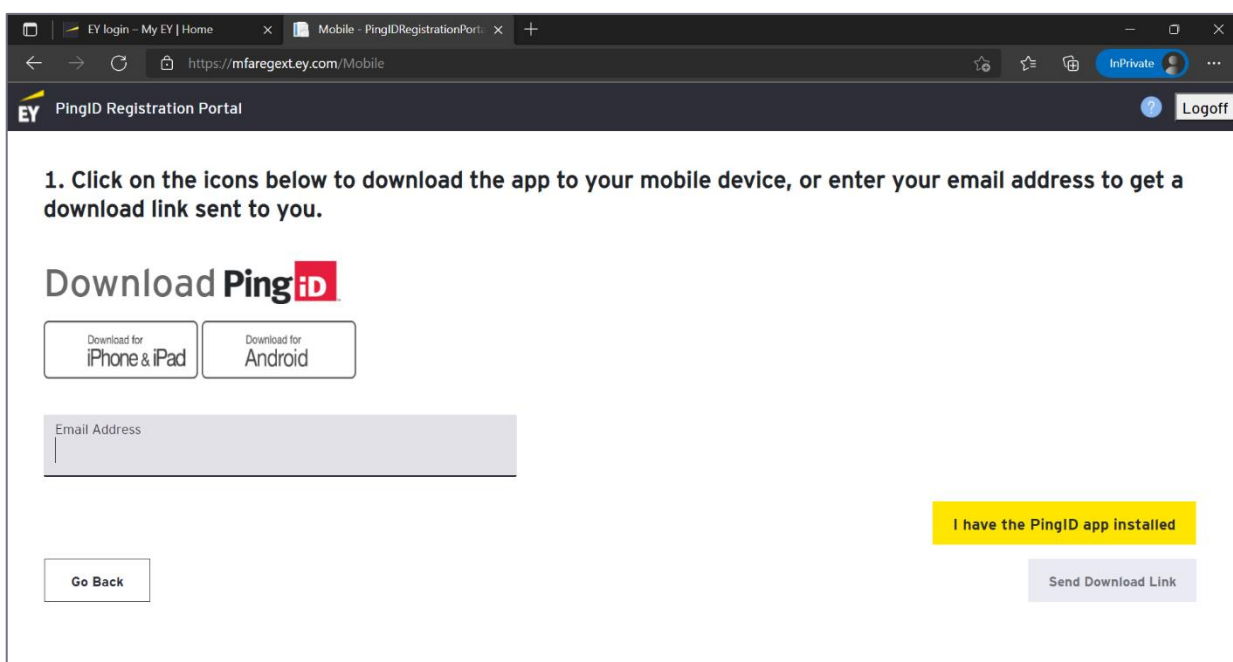

After navigating to My EY, you will be taken to a PingID screen. If you have not already registered, you will be shown a screen similar to this:

Click on the button labeled “Everyone else”, which is <https://mfaregext.ey.com/>.

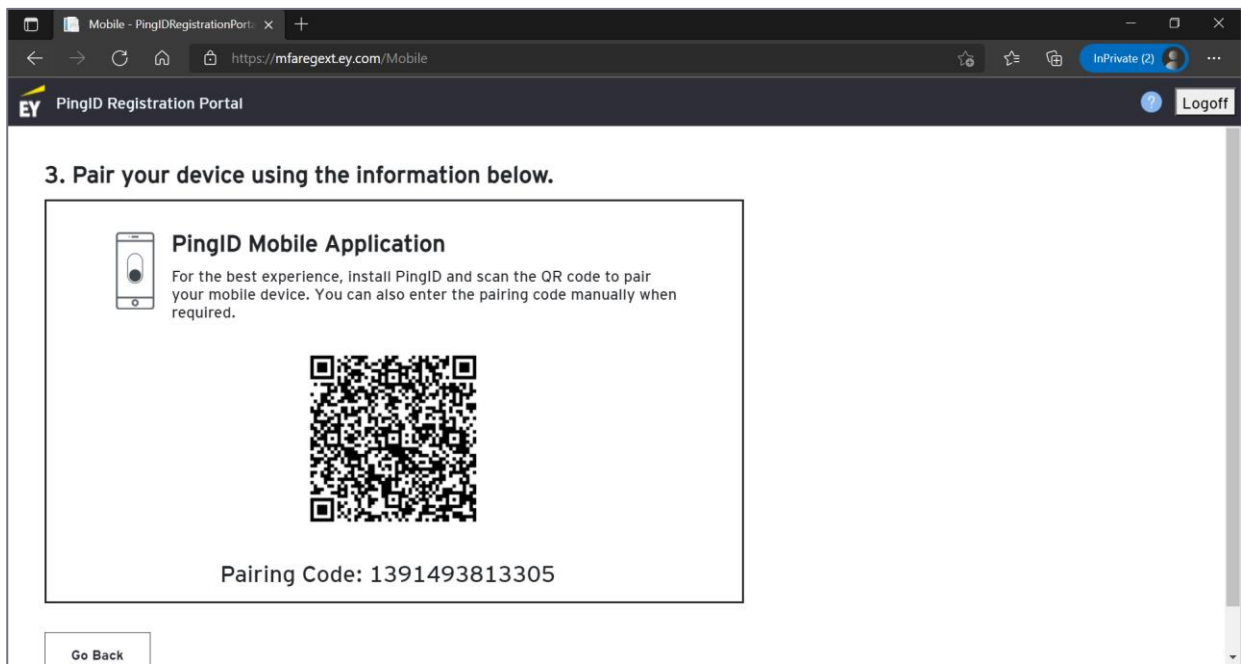

Click on the “Mobile App Registration” button, then “Next” in the screen shot above.

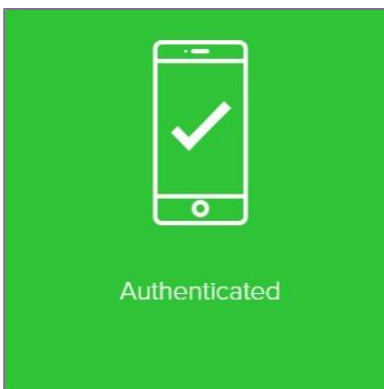

Click on the “I have the PingID app installed” button in the screenshot above.

Note: to authenticate with any of the other methods, please click on the appropriate button and follow the on-screen instructions from previous page.

On the next screen you will be presented with a QR barcode. Open your PingID app and use the on-screen camera to scan the QR code.

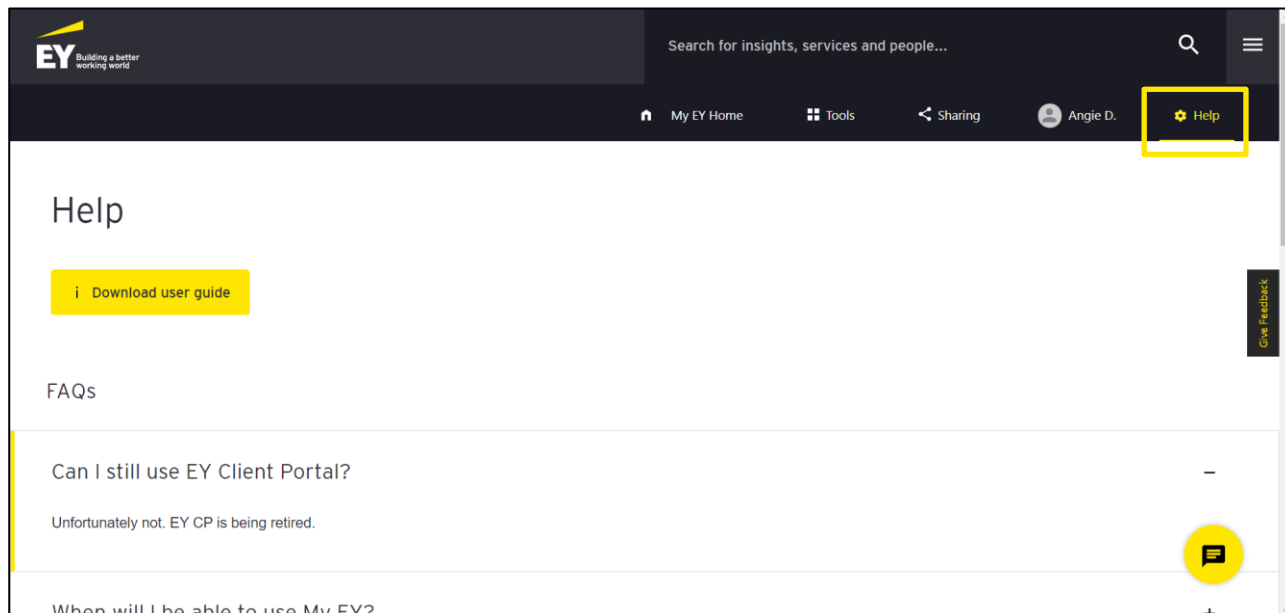

Your device should display a green success status after scanning the QR code, and you will be shown an authentication message on screen as well.

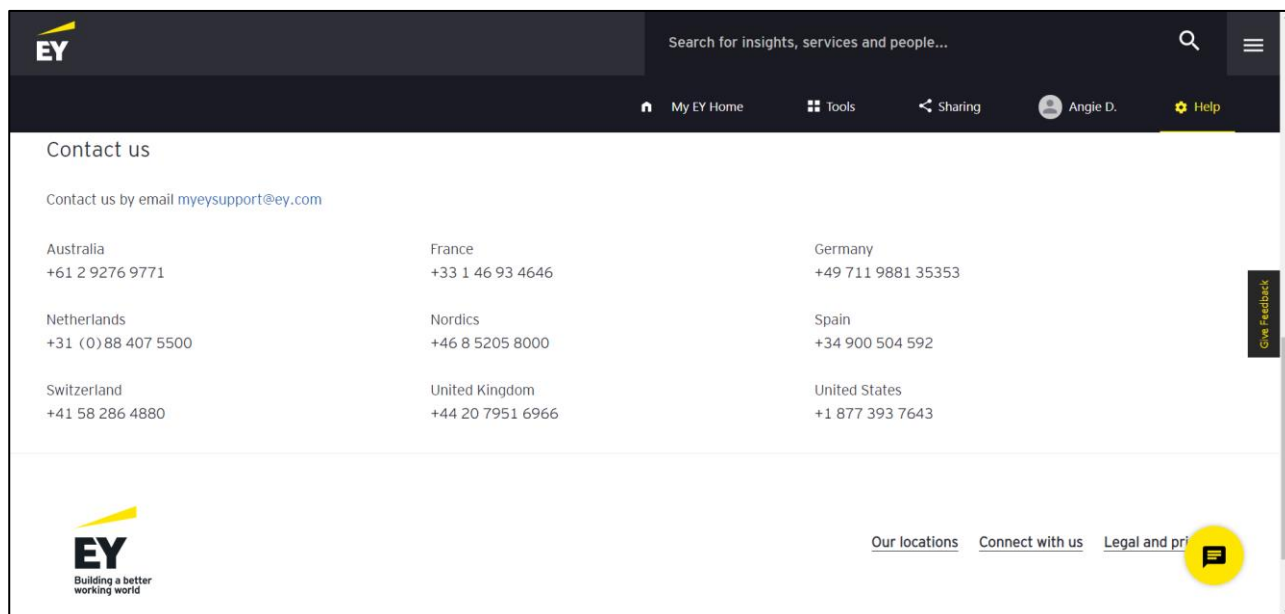

For subsequent visits to the My EY Admin site, you will only need to open the app on your mobile device when prompted to authenticate, and "swipe up" on the screen. The above steps are a one-time set up process.
